WITH HEAVY LOSS,
OCCURS IN ETHIOPIAHeavy Losses Are Reported
For Both Sides, Around
Virkos

SASA BANEH IS BOMBED

Believed to Mark the Opening of General Gravian's Offensive

ADDIS ABABA, Apr. 9.—News that a terrific battle with heavy losses on both sides has been raging on the southeast front around Virkos, near Garredarre, reached the capital today.

The result remains undecided.

Preceded by the bombing of Sasa Baneh, 84 miles north, and Daggahbur, still farther north, the battle, the first major fight in the southern sector for several weeks is believed to mark the opening of General Gravian's offensive.

When the summer rains follow up the campaign in the north, the forces will attempt to drive to Jijiga and Hara, cutting off the caravan trails over which supplies are brought into Ethiopia from British Somaliland.

ROME, Apr. 9.—So rapidly are Italian troops pressing after Emperor Haile Selassie's receding army that lines of communication cannot keep up with them and they are forced to receive their supplies from air, communication No. 180 revealed today.

"The air force has been very active in pursuing the enemy, and also their forces marching southward."

Unique Entertainment Given
For Mothers' Enjoyment

The meeting of Mothers' Association, Bristol public schools, was held last evening in the high school auditorium, Wilson avenue, with Mrs. Alfred McLaughlin, presiding. A short business meeting was held. Dr. Frank Lehman asked the group's consideration for financial assistance to immunize children from measles and whooping cough.

Plans were made to hold the annual shad supper for members only at the meeting in May. Mrs. Maurice Roche will have charge.

The meeting was turned over to the entertainment committee in charge of Mrs. Harry Pope. With the aid of a spotlight and suspended sheeting, several members of the Association formed silhouettes and the audience guessed those taking part. A prize was offered to the one guessing the greatest number of silhouettes, and Mrs. John Hardy was the winner. Those taking part were: Mrs. Wesley Hunting, Mrs. Alfred McLaughlin, Mrs. Earl McEuen, Mrs. Russell Crosby, Mrs. William Borchers, Mrs. Henry VanAnten, Mrs. John Orr, Mrs. Sylvester Brady and Mrs. Joseph Snyder. A "Major Bowes Hour" was enjoyed. The role of Major Bowes was portrayed by Mrs. Herbert Hanson who introduced the following women taking part: Miss Garnetta Herman, solo; Mrs. David Neill, solo; Mrs. Earl McEuen and Mrs. Russell Crosby, kitchen duet; Mrs. William Borchers, saxophonist; Mrs. Frank Parr, solo, imitating Kate Smith.

Dancing was indulged in to the strains of a local orchestra and refreshments were served. The women of the third and fourth wards were in charge. Mrs. Maurice Roche was chairwoman of refreshment committee.

SLIGHT FIRE

An overheated stove in a house owned by Henry Beck, Maynes Lane and State Road, set the house afire this morning. The damage was slight and the fire was extinguished by the Croydon Fire Department. Bristol Consolidated firemen were called but did not go into service. Bristol Consolidated Department was called last night to extinguish a pole fire on Farragut avenue.

FOURTH WARD BOYS

There is to be baseball practice for both the junior and senior boys of the Fourth Ward at two o'clock this afternoon on Carson street field. Also track practice on the same field at 5:30 o'clock.

DOYLESTOWN BOARD
TO GET SCHOOL TAXESWill Levy Against Salaries of Delinquents, It Is Reported

TO "DOCK" EMPLOYEES

DOYLESTOWN, Apr. 8.—If you don't pay your school taxes your employer not only will know about it, but will pay them for you—with your money, of course.

In session on Monday evening, the Doylestown School Board authorized Tax Collector Russell B. Gulick to notify the employers of delinquents and have the amount of their taxes "docked" from their weekly pay envelope.

Tax Collector Gulick stated that, in numerous cases, he has made repeated efforts to collect taxes from men holding responsible positions, and they have not cooperated.

Therefore, President William H. Satterthwaite, Jr., directed the Tax Collector to "speak to the boss about those who can afford to pay and will not do so." This action will be backed up by special delinquent notices issued by the Doylestown School Board.

Mr. Gulick reported that about $1900 personal tax is outstanding and $4800 in real estate. Of this amount, the sum of $1,000 was placed as possible exemptions because of deaths and other minor losses.

To date Tax Collector Gulick has made remarkable progress, turning in $43,317.58 representing paid-up taxes.

A budget, placed tentatively at $107,000 was adopted by the School Board, and Dr. George R. Cressman, supervising principal, announced that it can be consulted in his office in the Doylestown School Building in accordance with the demands of the Legislature regarding the publicity of a school budget.

The tax rate will be set at the next meeting of the board next month.

Eight teachers, who have been doing excellent teaching work at the minimum salary schedule, were given increases of $50 apiece. They include Alice G. Bright, Raymond C. Barney, Ruth N. Snyder, Florence E. Cornell, Ruth A. Naylor, Gladys M. Clymer, Thomas J. Keating and Florence Kreutzer.

The Board decided to increase Dr. Cressman's salary $100, re-electing him as supervising principal at the annual salary of $3500.

Dr. Cressman reported that the total enrollment of the schools is 1120 pupils, with 561 in the high school.

Upon the action of the board, Dr. Cressman will invite the Rev. Frank Damrosch, Jr., rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, to deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the members of the graduating class on Sunday evening, June 21.

It was decided to permit the Doylestown Rotary Club to stage its amateur night in the high school auditorium at a rental of $20.

The board also granted the American Legion permission to stage an essay writing contest in one of the classrooms May 1.

SENATOR BLACK WRITES A LETTER

(Reprinted from the Chicago Tribune of March 26, 1936)

Senator Black, the Alabama Peeping Tom, is lacking in that sly finesse which might be expected of a conspirator against liberty. His careless words unmask him.

It is true that for a time the Senator succeeded in disguising his Cheka as an investigation of lobbying against the utility holding company bill. He signed his lawless subpoenas as chairman of the Special Committee to Investigate Lobbying. But the language of the resolution establishing the committee purports to authorize investigation of "all efforts to influence, encourage, promote or retard legislation," and in his controversy with Mr. Hearst, Senator Black has tipped his hand in full.

The Hearst telegram which the committee sought to subpoena, having previously got a purported copy through the illegal connivance of the Federal Communications Commission, turned out to be instructions to an editorial writer.

The telegram, read on the floor of the House, shows that Mr. Hearst considered Chairman McSwain, of the House Military Affairs Committee, "a Communist in spirit and a traitor in effect," and wanted something said along those lines in his newspapers. What Mr. Hearst thinks of Congressman McSwain is immaterial, as is what Mr. McSwain and others think of Mr. Hearst. It is Senator Black's comment on the matter, embodied in a blustering letter to an official of the Western Union Telegraph Company, which gives away the plot.

"The Western Union Telegraph Company," wrote Senator Black, "would naturally not desire to bring out the fact that an effort had been made by its patron (Hearst) to intimidate and coerce in the performance of his legislative duty a member of Congress whose reputation for loyalty and patriotic service is above criticism. . ."

The law gives Mr. Hearst, or any other citizen of the United States, the right to write or say what he pleases about Congressman McSwain as a public official. If what Mr. Hearst says is maliciously false and injurious, the law then gives the Congressman the right to damages. But the law does not suit Senator Black.

The Congressional henchmen of the New Deal are to be "above criticism," theirs is a divine mandate, and if any heretic disputes it let him be locked in Senator Black's pillory and spattered with filth by brummagem statesmen.

That political philosophy died with the divine right of kings. It cannot exist in a Republic. It is the mechanism of dictators.

Senator Black embarked on his crusade against lobbying by attempting to give a dog a bad name. There is nothing intrinsically wrong with lobbying. Congress rarely passes any measure of importance, good or bad, which has not had its lobbyists, both pro and con. It is only when argument stops and bribery begins that the lobbyist becomes evil. The most vicious lobbyists the Roosevelt Administration has seen have been the President himself, his political manager, Mr. Farley, and his Congressional errand boy, Mr. West, buying legislative compliance by means of postmasterships and the four billion dollar works fund.

But Senator Black now shows that he does not intend to proceed against mere lobbying, as the term is commonly understood. Any suggestion by citizens of the course which they expect from the representatives they have elected, any protest against the folly of Congress, is proscribed. The rights of a free press, of free speech, and of petition for redress of grievances are to be abrogated. The Roosevelt Revolution must go ahead, and Senator Black is ready to deal with any of its victims who dares to protest.

Bucks Co. Real Estate
Board Visits Phila. Board

Eighteen members of the Bucks County Real Estate Board were guests last evening of the North Philadelphia Real Estate Board at a dinner served at the latter board's headquarters, 3313 North Broad street, Philadelphia.

Speakers included Senator Clarence J. Buckman, Langhorne; Pennsylvania assemblyman Thomas B. Stockham, Morrisville; Paul Townsend, Langhorne, president of the Bucks County Board; and Joseph G. Barth, head of the North Philadelphia Board.

Senator Buckman in addressing the assembly, made the statement that "If real estate is taxed further to provide flood and other relief at the approaching special sessions of the Legislature it will amount to confiscation." The state senator strongly played the trend toward further taxation of real estate for gathering of such funds.

The Bucks County group was issued an invitation to attend a Tuesday luncheon of the North Philadelphia Board, at which affairs the brokerage division operates. The brokerage division at the weekly luncheons lists the best buys the members have, and sales are negotiated on the floor. Last year 400 such sales were carried out.

The host group entertained with a minstrel performance.

MAUNDY THURSDAY MARKS
START OF SOLEMN DAYSProcessions Occur at Both
Roman Catholic Churches
Here Today

CHILDREN TAKE PART

Maundy Thursday is being observed in Bristol today by several of the churches.

Solemn processions were conducted by congregations of St. Mark's and St. Ann's Roman Catholic Churches this morning, with scores of students from the St. Mark's and St. Ann's parochial schools participating.

The children scattered on the aisles of the edifices fragrant blossoms, and attended the High Masses.

Maundy Thursday, the fifth day in Holy Week, secures its name from the Latin "mandatum," meaning a command, as it is the day when Christ commanded his disciples to love one another as He had loved them; to wash one another's feet in token of that love; and above all to "do this," that is, to celebrate the Holy Eucharist, in commemoration of Him. The day is especially the anniversary of the institution of the Holy Communion.

At St. Mark's Church there was a celebration of High Mass at 8:30 o'clock, the celebrant being the Rev. Father Joseph E. Murphy. The school children from St. Mark's marched in the solemn procession from the main altar to the repository; and the blessed sacrament was carried from the main altar to the repository. The side altar was decorated with the crown and the cross, with ferns and lilies carrying out the decorations of white and green. Trimming was in gold. The main altar is stripped bare for the Mass of the Pre-Sanctified tomorrow morning, Good Friday. The girls wore dresses of white, and hair-ribbons of gold-tone. The boys and girls strewn flowers in the aisle.

At St. Ann's Church there was a procession this morning, the children of the school marching from the school to the edifice. The Blessed Sacrament of the Holy Sepulchre was conducted at nine o'clock, with the Rev. Fathers Romagnolo, Rocca and Burratto officiating. The girls were garbed in white, and wore hair-ribbons of white; the boys wore white blouses. All carried lilies. This evening at 7:30 the Rev. Father Thomas Rocca will deliver a sermon on the Passion of Our Lord.

IMPORTANT MEETING

All ward chairmen, athletic leaders, and contest chairmen for girls' activities during Youth Week, are strongly urged to be at the meeting at 7:30 this evening in the Bracken Post home, Radcliffe street, as matters of importance are to be discussed.

SERVICE TONIGHT

The special preacher for this evening's service at the Presbyterian Church of Our Saviour, will be the Rev. Arthur Sargis, pastor of Edgington Presbyterian Church. At the close of the service there will be a meeting of the church session to receive the new members into the church's fellowship.

BAKE SALE ON SATURDAY

There will be a bake sale Saturday morning, beginning at 11 o'clock, for the benefit of the Second Ward boys who are to participate in Youth Week.

PARKING RESTRICTIONS

Parking will not be permitted on Mill street, between six and eight o'clock, Saturday night. This rule is to be enforced to permit the free movement of the Boy Scout parade. Motorists are requested to co-operate with the police department.

LINFORD J. JONES,
Chief of Police.Good Friday Services
Arranged For Churches

Special services for Good Friday are arranged by several of the Bristol churches.

The Rev. Percy Crawford will speak at the evening service in First Baptist Church, this being the second annual Good Friday service. The Rev. Crawford and his quartet will be in charge of the entire service. This speaker is best known through his radio program, "The Young People's Church of the Air," heard over station WIP every Sunday at five p. m. The Rev. Crawford is also editor of one of the leading theological magazines in the Eastern part of the country, "Young People Today." The Phi Gamma Fishing Clubs were originated by him, as were also the Bible conferences held each Summer at Pinebrook. The public is invited to this service which will commence at eight o'clock. A silver offering will be received.

At St. James's Episcopal Church there will be meditations on the seven last words of Christ, a three-hour service, 12 to three p. m. Anyone may enter or leave at anytime during the singing of a hymn. Evening prayer and sermon will be at eight o'clock. This evening in Bristol M. E. Church there will be a lighted-cross communion service at 7:45. Tomorrow at two p. m., the sixth word from the Cross will be dwelt upon. At 7:45 the seventh word will form the theme of the message.

The three o'clock service at Presbyterian Church of Our Saviour will be in charge of the pastor, and Miss Rachel Hansell, missionary of the Church, will speak. The evening service will take place at eight o'clock and the special preacher will be the Rev. Aurelius Cantafio, pastor of the Italian Presbyterian Church, North Philadelphia.

SOUDERTON YOUTH
SUES; AUTO COLLISIONHilltown Man is Named The Defendant in $2,500
Damage Claim

ANOTHER SUIT FILED

DOYLESTOWN, Apr. 9.—A damage suit, growing out of an automobile and motorcycle collision and a libel in divorce have been filed in the Court of Common Pleas, here.

Claiming damages amounting to $2500, William J. Detweiler, a minor, and his parents, J. Stewart and Verna M. Detweiler, of Souderton, have named Abram Schnable, of Hilltown township, the defendant in the action of trespass.

According to the statement of claim, the minor plaintiff was riding a motorcycle on a highway between the Bethlehem Pike and Silverdale August 4, 1935, when he collided with an automobile driven by the defendant.

The accident happened at the intersection of a dirt road and the State Highway, according to the statement of claim.

The young defendant alleges that he suffered a punctured kidney, concussion of the brain and other injuries, including a hemorrhage of the right eye.

The minor plaintiff avers that his motorcycle prior to the accident, had a market value of $135, and after the collision was worth only $78. His parents claim the sum of $500, while he claims damages aggregating $2,000. Charging his wife, Chrissie Knecht, with desertion, Frederick Knecht, 110 Hughes avenue, Sellersville, has filed a libel in divorce in the Court of Common Pleas, here.

According to the libel, the libellant and respondent were married June 21, 1905, in Philadelphia.

The libellant avers that his wife deserted him February 12, 1934.

He also avers that her present residence is in West Rockhill township, Prior to moving to Bucks county, the libellant and his wife have resided in various places, including Philadelphia, for a number of years.

NINTH BIRTHDAY
CELEBRATION OF
SCOUTS PLANNEDBucks County Scouting Council
Arranges for Activities

DRILL AT SCHOOL

Championship Scoutercraft Meet
To Be Highlight; Prominent Speakers

The ninth birthday celebration of the Bucks County Scouting Council will take place here on Saturday. A full day of activities has been planned. All Cubs, Scouts, Seascouts, Rovers, Leaders, Committeemen and friends are expecting to be present.

The exhibition drill will be conducted on the high school grounds from 1:40 to five o'clock. It will be a display of the marching and leadership ability of the various "crack" drill teams who have been declared district champions. They will endeavor to secure council honors by their participation on Saturday. Inspections for the three appearance cups of Doylestown Rotary Club; Pack Appearance Cup, Bristol Exchange Club; Troop Appearance Cup, and Quakertown Chamber of Commerce Ship Appearance Cup, will be conducted on the first floor hallway, off the gymnasium, between 2:30 and 3:30, other than Seascout units. For those Cub Packs and Scout Troops who find it impossible to secure their appearance inspection, there will be a special inspection from six to 6:45 at the mobilization center.

The championship Scoutercraft Meet starts at 2:30 in the High School auditorium, and includes a variety of events, beginning at the starting time with rope work, cooking and signaling. At three p. m. will be judging, 3:20 observation, 3:40 timing, and the Scoutercraft events will conclude at four p. m. with thousand legger. One of the school rooms, No. 199, has been set aside for the conducting of the Bucks County Championship Bugling contest from three to five o'clock.

Everyone will be guests of the Grand Theatre for three-quarters of an hour of moving pictures, starting at 4:45, through the kindness of manager Edward Lynn. Members of the Order of the Arrow, the National Camp Honor Brotherhood, with the Ajapsi Lodge from the Bucks County Scouting Council will have a banquet at the Keystone Hotel, at 4:45 p. m.

The Women's Auxiliaries of the Presbyterian and Methodist Churches are going to prepare cocoa and serve crackers, contributed by several national concerns, at 5:30 in their respective churches.

All of the Seascout units will have a special inspection at the corner of Radcliffe and Mulberry streets, for the scoring of their appearance points towards the cup contest. The monster parade starts at 6:45, and will move through the streets of Bristol to the high school auditorium for the rally starting at eight p. m.

Burgess Clifford L. Anderson will welcome the membership of the Bucks County Scouting Council to Bristol at the opening of the rally, and it will be acknowledged by Judge Calvin S. Boyer, District Chairman of the Middle Bucks District, Council Scout Commissioner William Burgess, Jr., will preside at the rally.

The organization of the facilities for Scouting Day at Bristol has been arranged by a special committee, comprising Chairman Walter W. Pitonka, Vice-Chairmen Paul V. Forster and William Lange, Sr.; finance, Hampton Morris; refreshments, Thomas Jones, Leslie Helwig, and Lester B. Shoemaker; movies, David Hertler, Dr. J. J. Willaman; parade, Roy Fry; publicity, Charles Moerman, and service, Herbert A. Pettit.

Scout Executive William F. Livermore is organizing over fifty men to serve in official capacities in the judging and supervision of the various events, comprising the Council Birthday. The public is cordially invited to participate and join in all the activities of the day.

SKATING IN THE STREET

With the coming of spring the boys and girls have resumed the dangerous practice of roller skating in the public streets, despite the warning which has been given.

Skaters gliding about on the public highways are in constant danger of either being seriously injured or killed by the heavy motor traffic through here. There is particular danger at night when it seems that most of the youths engage in their dangerous pastime.

It would be difficult to mention the number of narrow escapes which occur on the streets of Bristol and the practice of street skating is not only indulged in here, but in the outlying sections, as well.

Fatal accidents have occurred here when skaters have been run down by motorists, but still the lesson has not been learned.

The boys and girls should realize how they are jeopardizing their lives and cease to skate in the public highways, either at night or during the day.

TOWNSEND ANTICS

The world, and particularly the part of it which is old or unable to fend for itself, is constantly looking for a Messiah who has nothing to sell and no axe of his own to grind. It is almost as constantly being disappointed.

The lessons of experience rarely prevail against the hope inspired by the professional comforter; and those realists who attempt to reveal him as a faker are taking on a thankless task. A vain task, too, for in the end it is invariably the faker who exposes himself.

The testimony heard before the special House committee looking into the promotion of the Townsend Old Age Pension Plan would be comic, if it did not affect directly and disastrously the hopes of hundreds of thousands of simple, decent and credulous folk.

The obscene clowning back and forth between two officials of the plan in a correspondence concerning patent medicine ads carried in its publication may help to do what serious critics of the plan have never done. The obvious contempt in which these fellows held the intelligence of their readers, in their facetious debate over the propriety of publicizing rejuvenation pills, of including a naked woman in the ads, and speculating on what they ought to ask for a personal testimonial from Townsend himself, should destroy a multitude of fond illusions.

Those who have tried to demonstrate the practical impossibility of the plan have been belabored for their pains, which is the usual lot of the skeptic. It will be interesting in this case, and a little sad, to see how thoroughly the charlatans themselves are able to accomplish what the plan's critics have been powerless to effect.

Uncivilized lands: Where the white stranger doesn't lock up for the night if assured there isn't another in the vicinity.

A Bible class in the Southwest read the Bible in relays, finishing the task in 21 hours. But the wind must have been with them.

A Western embezzler was caught in hand, in the act of doctoring the firm's books. With conditions as they have been, this might mean red-handed.

THE SERVANT appeared, and escorted them to the top of the stairs. They said nothing as they descended to the door, which was opened by the same burly man who had let them in. They got into the car. As Nat stepped on the starter, he saw Doris, her face free of the smear of oil, smiling at him. He smiled back and lifted his hat.

"I say," she called. "Aren't you staying for luncheon?"

"Sorry," said Nat, and he meant it.

SKATING IN THE STREET

With the coming of spring the boys and girls have resumed the dangerous practice of roller skating in the public streets, despite the warning which has been given.

Skaters gliding about on the public highways are in constant danger of either being seriously injured or killed by the heavy motor traffic through here. There is particular danger at night when it seems that most of the youths engage in their dangerous pastime.

It would be difficult to mention the number of narrow escapes which occur on the streets of Bristol and the practice of street skating is not only indulged in here, but in the outlying sections, as well.

Fatal accidents have occurred here when skaters have been run down by motorists, but still the lesson has not been learned.

The boys and girls should realize how they are jeopardizing their lives and ease to skate in the public highways, either at night or during the day.

Stop before you are stopped.

TOWNSEND ANTICS

The world, and particularly the part of it which is old or unable to fend for itself, is constantly looking for a Messiah who has nothing to sell and no axe of his own to grind. It is almost as constantly being disappointed.

The lessons of experience rarely prevail against the hope inspired by the professional comforter; and those realists who attempt to reveal him as a faker are taking on a thankless task. A vain task, too, for in the end it is invariably the faker who exposes himself.

The testimony heard before the special House committee looking into the promotion of the Townsend Old Age Pension Plan would be comic, if it did not affect directly and disastrously the hopes of hundreds of thousands of simple, decent and credulous folks.

The obscene clowning back and forth between two officials of the plan in a correspondence concerning patent medicine ads carried in its publication may help to do what serious critics of the plan have never done. The obvious contempt in which these fellows held the intelligence of their readers, in their facetious debate over the propriety of publicizing rejuvenation pills, of including a naked woman in the ads, and speculating on what they ought to ask for a personal testimonial from Townsend himself, should destroy a multitude of fond illusions.

Those who have tried to demonstrate the practical impossibility of the plan have been belabored for their pains, which is the usual lot of the skeptic. It will be interesting in this case, and a little sad, to see how thoroughly the charlatans themselves are able to accomplish what the plan's critics have been powerless to effect.

Uncivilized lands: Where the white stranger doesn't look up for the night if assured there isn't another in the vicinity.

A Bible class in the Southwest read the Bible in relays, finishing the task in 21 hours. But the wind must have been with them.

A Western embezzler was caught pen in hand, in the act of doctoring the firm's books. With conditions as they have been, this might mean red-handed.

"THERE'S MURDER IN THE AIR"

by ROY CHANSLOR

SYNOPSIS

Beautiful Ruth Tyler, blind daughter of former District Attorney Daniel Tyler, is psychic and foretells murders, but is powerless to reveal enough information so that the tragedies can be averted. These manifestations occur while Ruth, a talented musician, plays her violin—and always at night. The girl becomes terror-stricken and suddenly this strange power grips her. Her father enlists the aid of Dr. Jan Karase, noted psychiatrist, but as Karase is working on another case, he sends his young assistant, Nat Benson, to study the girl. Nat is introduced to Ruth as the son of her father's college chum, in the city on a visit. One night, when Ruth has a spell, Nat prevents Tyler from trying to soothe her, with the result her vision is keener than ever and she is able to reveal the name of the person marked for death. This time it is Paul Y. Gordon, an international banker. Nat telephones Gordon, warning him his life is in danger. Next morning, Nat, Tyler and Ruth, enroute to keep an appointment with Gordon, come upon Doris Gordon trying to get her car started. Nat offers her a lift.

CHAPTER VIII

Nat opened the rear door, and the girl climbed in beside Ruth and Tyler. Tyler introduced Ruth, Nat and himself, and Nat started the car.

"I hope you're expected," said Doris Gordon.

"I believe we are," said Tyler. "That's good," said Doris. "Because you'd just have the trip for nothing if you weren't. Dad hardly sees anybody these days. I say, it's lucky you came along. I don't mind walking, but not in these shoes."

"It must be fun to drive your own car," Ruth said.

"You don't drive?" said Doris incredulously, turning to Ruth.

"No," said Ruth, smiling. "You see, I'm blind."

"I say," said Doris, astonished. "Oh, I'm terribly sorry. I did mean—why I'd never have guessed—"

"Few people do at first," said Ruth composedly.

There was a long silence as the car forged powerfully ahead. Nat guessed that Doris was embarrassed and a little ill at ease. He began to talk, casually, over his shoulder. He felt the tension ease.

"Here we are," said Doris presently.

The big house gleamed in the sunshine. There were several smaller buildings to the rear, garages, stables, two houses that looked like employees' cottages. A broad white roadway wound up from the main road.

A closed gate barred their entrance. A man leaned out of the small lodge by the gate and stared at them. Doris waved to him, and the gate opened. Nat drove inside and stopped as the man came out of the lodge. He was a hard-looking customer, and he peered at them narrowly.

"Mr. Tyler and party," Doris cried, opening the door. She alighted from the car. The burly man got onto the running-board.

"Around to the left," he said.

Nat looked at Doris, standing in the driveway, smiling.

"Thanks a lot," she said. "Hope you stay for luncheon."

"Thanks," Nat grinned, and stepped on the accelerator. When they reached the other side of the house, the burly man told Nat to stop. Tyler helped Ruth from the car, and they followed the man to the door. The door opened, and he nodded for them to go up.

He remained outside, closing the door after them. At the top of the stairs they were met by a middle-aged man of a different type, obviously a servant. He bowed.

"Mr. Tyler?" he asked, politely.

"Yes," said Tyler.

"This way, sir," said the man. He showed them into a sunny sitting-room, seated them and disappeared through a door on the other side of the room.

"I say," said Tyler, "this is a strange place."

"Like a regular fort!" said Nat. "And did you get a look at those two plug-uglies who met us?"

"They certainly looked like thugs," said Tyler.

Across the room the door opened, and a vigorous-looking man of fifty-four or five, wearing a loosely comfortable old tweed jacket and gray flannel slacks, appeared, adjusting his glasses. The door was closed behind him.

On the other side of it stood the servant who had admitted the visitors. Beside him was the burly man who had directed them upstairs. He held an automatic pistol in his hand. The two men stood close to the door, poised, listening.

Gordon advanced into the sitting-room with a smile.

"Ah," he said. "Mr. Tyler?"

"Yes," said Tyler. "How do you do, Mr. Gordon?"

The men shook hands, and Tyler introduced Ruth and then Nat. Gordon peered at him a moment, then extended his hand with a half-smile.

"You routed me out at a devilish hour, Mr. Benson," he said.

"Sorry," said Nat. "But we thought the matter was urgent."

"I dare say," Gordon. "Sit down." Gordon indicated chairs, and they sat, facing the bright windows. He himself took a chair with his back to the window, so that he could watch their faces closely while his own was in shadow. Tyler smiled.

It was an old trick he'd learned in the District Attorney's office. In a sense he knew they were all on trial before the keen-eyed banker.

Gordon looked at them quietly for a moment. Then he said, inquiringly, "Well?"

"I must ask your indulgence for a rather roundabout introduction to the point," said Tyler. "But it's necessary, if you are to understand, that I start at the beginning. My daughter Ruth, as you must have noticed, is blind."

"Eh?" said Gordon, astonished.

Ruth smiled, and Tyler went on with the story. He told of Ruth's talent for the violin, her studies abroad, the sheltered conditions of her life. Then he brought in her first troubled experiences. Gordon listened politely, but with a puzzled frown on his face. In detail Tyler recited the occurrences on the night of the attempt on the life of the President-elect.

Gordon said nothing, beyond an involuntary exclamation or two, but he kept his eyes on Ruth, who sat serene and at ease, listening to her father speak. When Tyler had finished, he sat back, watching the financier's face.

"It is extraordinary," said Gordon after a moment's pause. "Very interesting. But what has it got to do with me?"

"I am coming to that," said Tyler. "I have told you how Ruth was able to pick up the hate of this man Zangara, his determination to kill Mr. Roosevelt. How she knew when the shots were fired, realized that the assassin had failed in his attempt to shoot Mr. Roosevelt, but had struck others, a woman and Mayor Cermak included. We have said nothing of this to anyone except Dr. Jan Karase, the well-known psychologist. We didn't want any notoriety. But now we feel that we must speak—to you. Because my daughter knows that, some one is planning to kill you."

"Ah," said Gordon, softly. "She has—ah—picked this up out of the air, as it were?"

"Yes," said Tyler.

Gordon regarded the girl keenly.

"I see," he said. "And who, may I ask, is this would-be assassin?"

"I don't know," said Ruth.

"All that she has been able to get is this fierce determination to kill you," said Nat, speaking for the first time. "We thought we should warn you. So that you can—"

"Quite," said Gordon, interrupting. "I'm grateful of course. As a matter of fact, I know I'm in a certain amount of danger. Any man in my position would be, especially in these parlous times. The world is full of fanatics and cranks."

"We feel that this is not a happy—"

MRS. EDNA RIGGS CRABTREE PLANS YOUR EASTER FESTIVAL

The Younger Members Plead For Breakfast; the Older Ones for Dinner—Here Are Both

Dear Friends in Bristol:

"Good Morning—Happy Easter!" will ring out from many of our churches and remind us again to reverently celebrate the coming of Spring. The name Easter is probably derived from Eostre, a Saxon goddess, whose festival was kept about the same time as Easter. In the ancient church, the celebration lasted for eight days. It was a festival of pleasure; alms were given to the poor and slaves were often freed.

Today, friends and relatives gather to celebrate this gracious custom of fellowship. The Easter parade with all its new bonnets and flowered dresses is only the modern version of an ancient festival.

A Sunrise Breakfast

There could be no nicer way to welcome the Easter morn than with a very early breakfast. If your friends have attended a church service in the early morn they will be most enthusiastic over your breakfast. A very pretty English custom is that of bringing a potted plant to the hostess. She, in turn, sends them to some shut-in and makes their day happier and brighter.

Early morning activity creates an appetite. If you are entertaining for the younger set, prepare food in quantities. They will be hungry, have plenty of time and will likely spend the morning at your table with but a very little bit of encouragement from you.

The Menu

Broiled Grapefruit
Broiled Ham and Scrambled Eggs
Hominy or Potato Souffle
Hot Rolls
Raspberry Jam
Coffee

You will notice that I have suggested a simple but a wholesome meal. Such a breakfast will be enjoyed by everyone even in a house where there is no servant. Breakfasts are always more delightful when all elaborate features are eliminated.

Broiled Grapefruit may be something new to you. Prepare the fruit as you would for regular service; that is removing the seeds and separating the segments. Sprinkle heavily with a mixture of cinnamon and sugar. Just before serving, place on broiler, run under the heat until the sugar is melted. Serve at once.

Broiled ham when served with eggs is best when sliced from a baked ham. Slice just as thin as possible then broil in butter. Bake a nest of these fine slivers of ham and place the scrambled eggs in the center. Garnish with parsley.

The hominy or potato souffle is made as follows: one cup of cooked hominy or mashed potatoes; one cup white sauce; three eggs; salt and pepper to taste. Make a medium white sauce; add hominy or potatoes and cool. Beat egg yolks and add to white sauce mixture. Add seasonings and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a well greased pan or casserole and bake in a 350 degree oven for 25 to 35 minutes. The souffle is done when the custard is solid.

Easter Dinner

Green and white are the accepted colors for the Easter Season. White linen on the table, crystal, white china with a center piece of white flowers and dainty fern would please the most discriminating guest or hostess. If you wish a bit of color on your table, use pastel colors of tulips. I have planned a dinner menu for you that will not be costly but will have all the marks of a true festival; bunnies for canapes, Easter eggs for the salad; stars for the cookies, and a big egg of ice cream for dessert.

The Menu

Springtime Cocktail
Roast Leg of Lamb
Fresh Asparagus
Paprika Potatoes
Easter Salad
Easter Ice Cream
Star Cookies
Coffee

For the Springtime Cocktail, combine one-fourth cup of rhubarb juice; one tablespoon lemon juice; two tablespoons pineapple juice; two tablespoons gingerale; and crushed ice to fill the glass. Make rhubarb juice by cooking new pink rhubarb in an equal quantity of water until rhubarb is soft. Strain, measure, add about one-third as much sugar and boil for two minutes. Combine with other ingredients and mix well.

Serve a tiny bunny canape on the small plate with the cocktail. Cut a piece of bread with a cutter shaped as a rabbit. Sauté or fry in deep fat. Cover completely with cream cheese. Put a tiny piece of pimiento for his mouth and a tiny pink candy for the eye.

Mint apples are a delicious accompaniment for roast lamb. Peel and core apples of medium size. Select firm, cooking apples. Fill centers with sugar and place in a baking dish. Make a syrup of one cup of sugar and two cups of water. Color a delicate green with vegetable coloring. Cook slowly to a thick syrup. Cover the apples with the syrup to which has been added a few drops of oil of peppermint. Cover the dish and bake in a slow oven until soft and clear. Serve hot or cold.

For the Easter salad, scoop out the yolk from a hard cooked egg. Mix with seasonings and mayonnaise. Shape into tiny eggs. Also shape tiny eggs of cottage cheese. Leave one egg the natural yellow; roll the cheese eggs—one in chopped parsley and the other in paprika. Shred the lettuce very fine and line the nest (egg white), place three eggs in nest. Serve two nests on a bed of lettuce.

Easter ice cream may be your favorite flavor. When taken from the freezer quickly shape with a spatula to simulate an egg. Place the egg in a nest of tinted green cocoanut.

The star cookies are crisp and just the perfect finish for a dinner.

One half cup shortening; one cup of sugar; 1 tablespoon water; one egg; two cups flour; two teaspoons baking powder; one-fourth cup almonds.

Cream shortening and sugar. Add egg and water. Beat thoroughly. Add flour and baking powder. Mix well and chill. Roll very thin, cut with a star cutter and sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar. Place two or three blanched almonds on top and bake on a greased cookie sheet ten minutes in a 350 degree oven.

The very best of good wishes for a joyous Easter.

INEXPENSIVE DINNERS FOR THIS WEEK

The markets are blossoming out with more and more fresh vegetables daily. Nature is giving you a very positive hint that now is the time to change from the heavier foods and give your families green vegetables. Thanks to the modern method of transportation, we can purchase these foods at remarkably low prices.

Menu Suggestions

Bean Soup
Onions stuffed with Ham
Green Asparagus
Cottage Cheese Salad
Pineapple
Coffee or Tea
Radish and Celery Appetizer
Stuffed Flank Steak
String Beans
Browned Potatoes
Rhubarb Pie
Coffee or Tea
Tomato Juice Cocktail
Casserole of Veal and Vegetables
Combination Salad
Gingerbread-Lemon Sauce
Coffee or Tea
Rhubarb Pie
One and one half cups rhubarb; 1 cup sugar; one egg; two tablespoons flour; pastry.

Skin and cut stalks of rhubarb into half inch pieces before measuring. If the rhubarb is small and tender, it need not be skinned. Mix sugar, flour and egg; add to rhubarb and bake between crusts. If you prefer a rhubarb pie that is less tangy, scald the rhubarb before using.

Stuffed Flank Steak

Two cups of soft bread crumbs; two tablespoons chopped parsley; one and one half pounds flank or round steak; 1 small onion, chopped fine.

Combine the bread crumbs and seasonings. Pound the steak until thin, sprinkle with salt and spread with the dressing. Roll, shape and tie. Sear on all sides to a crisp brown, add enough meat broth or water to cover the pan to one half inch. Cover and cook until tender which will take from one to one and one-half hours.

Casserole of Veal and Vegetables

Have two pounds of breast or shoulder of veal cut in cubes. Sauté them in hot fat then sprinkle with three tablespoons of flour. Brown. Add three cups of water or soup stock or tomato juice if desired. Cook slowly for an hour, covered. Then add onions, carrots and small potatoes. Continue cooking from half to three-quarters of an hour on top of the stove or in the oven. Other vegetables may be added if desired such as peas or beans.

A BRIDGE BREAKFAST FOR A CHANGE

Guests arrive for breakfast at ten or eleven in the morning and before the game of bridge, relish a wholesome breakfast. This method of entertaining gives the hostess ample time for preparation; relieves any disturbance while the guests are present and all-around works beautifully.

The shops are all showing colored luncheon sets that seem to belong to the white china so popular today.

MOISTURE CONTROL

The most important single attribute of cigarettes, other than the tobacco itself, is moisture content. To its influence we owe the ability to make uniform cigarettes, to control combustion, and to govern quality of smoke. Excessive moisture interferes with proper combustion, and makes cigarette smoke unpalatable. Insufficient moisture permits dry, dusty cigarette smoke to impinge upon the delicate mucous membrane of the smoker.

JOE COX VICTOR OVER LEN HALL

TRENTON, N. J., Apr. 9.—After absorbing all the punishment his opponent could hand out, Joe Cox, burly Cleveland grappler, turned on the heat last night at the arena and pinned Dr. Len Hall, of Nebraska, in the two deciding falls. A crowd of nearly 2,000 saw the match.

Hall won the first fall after 22:28 with a body press that followed a half dozen slams. The barrel-chested Hall tossed his heavier opponent about as much as a dock-worker would heave a bag of oats.

Coming back for the second fall, Cox opened up an attack of his own and wrenched Hall's left arm until the latter was forced to beat it against the mat to dispel the numbness. Hall was not finished by any means, however, but he made the mistake of trying to out-charge Cox after bouncing off the ropes. Finally after 24 minutes of interesting grappling, Cox twisted his foe around in mid-air a few times and crashed him to the canvas. From then on the rest was easy, the end coming in 14:02.

The final fall saw Cox at his best. Hall attempted to punch, kick and charge his way to victory. An ill-timed charge brought about his downfall, however. Cox sprung from a kneeling position just about the time Hall was attempting to run him down and bumped the Nebraskan high into the air. Then following his foe across the ring, Cox sat on his head and shoulders for the pin, after nine minutes. Cox weighed 224; Hall, 214.

HULMEVILLE

At the April meeting of Hulmeville borough council conducted Monday evening in the council chamber, a motion was passed to lower the tax rate from 11 to nine mills.

The Hulmeville-Middletown public school will close this afternoon for Easter vacation, with Good Friday being observed as a holiday. Sessions will be resumed Monday morning.

Election of officers took place at the business meeting of the Ladies' Aid, Neshaunmy M. E. Church, which was held at the residence of Mrs. Christian Tomlinson, Langhorne, Tuesday evening. Renamed to serve in their respective capacities are: Mrs. Edward Davis, president; Mrs. Samuel Everitt, vice-president; secretary, Mrs. Jesse G. Webster; assistant secretary, Mrs. Joseph Everitt; treasurer, Mrs. Ashbel Buckman; assistant treasurer, Mrs. Edward VanArtsdalen. The devotions were in charge of Mrs. William Harvie. The Aid has purchased a new gas range for use in the church kitchen, and is also having another closet built for kitchen utensils. Plans were made for the annual banquet of the organization, this to occur April 21st. Members and guests will be welcomed to the affair which will be conducted in the church. A get-together social is being arranged by the Aid for next Monday evening in Epworth Hall, the entire membership of the church being invited. The Epworth League will be in charge of the social period; and the Aid members and men of the church will serve refreshments. The next meeting, May 5th, will be at the home of Mrs. Edward VanArtsdalen.

A Sensational Offer To Weak, Sick, Nervous Folks

We Don't Want a Cent of Anyone's Money if This Great Rejuvenating Tonic Fails To Increase Energy and Endurance and Give You New Pep and Vigor In 10 Days' Time.

This new combination of iron, called Clements' Tonic, promises to be one of the most potent of all remedies for this blood, worn-out tissues, and depleted nerve force.

It's almost incredible the way sick, anemic folks—folks who used to be nothing but skin and bones and ailing all the time—begin to pick up when they start taking this wonderful-working blood and nerve tonic.

Sunken cheeks and other hollows fill out, sallowness gives way to rich, healthy color; nervousness disappears; you put on good solid flesh, and are fit as a fiddle in every way. You bubble over with pep and vitality. Best of all, you have the STRENGTH THAT ENDURES.

We cheerfully agree to refund the purchase price if Clements' Tonic does not increase your strength and endurance 100 percent in 10 days' time.

FASHION PARADE

By Orry-Kelly

(Famous Hollywood Stylist Writing For International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Another "Answering the Mail" Day . . . and this time most of the questions are about tailored suits, which is as it should be.

First, a woman from Toledo wants to know the best jacket length. That's easy . . . anything goes, this season, from the short bolero to the seven-eighths length coat. The latter, by the way, are good on any figure, but I like the bolero only on the small woman, when she's slim as Ruby Keeler.

Then—"What's the difference between a 'this-year's suit' and a 'last-year's suit'?" asks a regular correspondent from Detroit. Well, if it's a classic tulleur, look at the shoulders, which should be padded. Look for a buttonhole in the lapel, for watch or flowers. See if the fabric is mannish—hard-surfaced flannel, gabardine, herringbone, tweed, cheviot, on man-tailored suits. See if the skirt's an inch shorter than before. Or, in the softer versions, look for the peplum, widening tuxedo revers, braid down the side of the skirt, and softening bound edges.

"If I buy two suits instead of one this spring, how shall they differ from each other?" comes the interesting query from Spokane. My advice is, have one a short jacket suit, single-breasted, with four buttons below the bust, no breast pocket and a narrow neckline, if you're plump. Then let the other have a three-quarter length swaggar jacket—so you can wear it with other costumes.

"What about capes? Is the cape-suit still in style?" still another reader wants to know. Yes—they continue popular, especially for travel or sportswear. But methinks they're best of all for dressy afternoon wear—and with this in mind, I've given one to Joan Blondell, in black corded silk lined with red, "costume military" in treatment for her new part in "Stage Struck."

Finally . . . right here at home, our own Marie Wilson is latest to swell the question box, using her telephone instead of the mail.

"Kelly!" she wailed, "I've got a new suit . . . and a new tailored blouse . . . but what'll I put at the neck? I'm so sick of clips!"

So, I think, is everybody else. But the substitutes, for turn-down collars, are many. Pearls. Real or artificial flowers, in a gay clump at the throat. Kerchiefs. Pique or organdie collars you can sew in just for the day. And last but not least, a trick tried by Alma Lloyd with great success on a blue shirtmaker frock she wears in "Big Business." Alma took a blue and brown hanky, tied it in a bow, and pinned it to her collar . . . instead of looping it around her neck. Try it with a blouse, in matching or contrasting color . . . and see if it doesn't give a new look to your costume.

CARRIES SPARE EYES

GRANTS PASS, Ore.—(INS)—Forewarned by the loss of an eye to make a 90-mile trip, a resident of Grants, Oregon, now buys his optics in wholesale lots. The man's wife shattered his glass eye while washing it, entailing the long trip to Grants Pass for another. The gentleman now carries a couple of spares for emergency.

THE FLOOD SWEEPS ON-

Rebuild for Permanence with Concrete

NOW is the time to plan reconstruction—to build for greater safety in the future. Temporary measures only mean greater expense in the end.

For permanence and safety insist on concrete

Man has not yet mastered control of the waters. But he has mastered the science of proper bridge design, with concrete.

Many bridges are needed throughout the flood area. Concrete bridges, properly designed, full-throated to allow the passage of debris, are safe and will not need frequent heavy upkeep expense and repair.

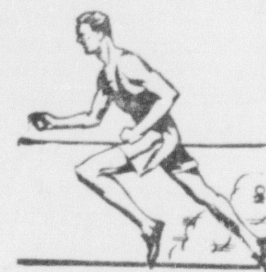

Build your bridges of long-lasting concrete—for economy and protection to life, property and traffic.

CROYDON ARENA FANS SEE PLENTY OF ACTION

CROYDON, Apr. 9.—Fighters wall-plashed all over the ring last night at the Arena in the weekly amateur bouts sponsored by the Daggar A. C. The spectators, who like to see the boys on the floor, got their money's worth. Six of the ten bouts ended in knock-outs.

In the opening fight Harry McCord, 147-lb. Kensingtonian, was too much for Ernest Pezzuto, of the Mason A. C. McCord shot a couple of hard rights to the Mason boy's head in the opening seconds of the fight, causing him to quit. The second bout was just as short. Charles Undergrove, a Nativty lightweight, knocked out Sid Berman in the first round.

Tommy Myers, of Croydon, made short work of Thomas Murphy, of Kensington, beating the Philadelphia quite badly in the first round, while knocking him out in the second, while brother Joe Myers had difficulty defeating Jimmy Donnelly, a Nativty youngster, in three rounds. Both boys slam-banged one another around and were glad when the bell rang, ending the bout.

Bernard Steinberg, a tall, fast lad from the Mason Club, knocked out Joe Swartz, 160-lb. Nativty scrapper, in the first round. Steinberg, who was forced to take a severe beating in the opening seconds and knocked the Nativty youth completely goofy with a hard left to the "tummy."

Ralph Romano, after carrying Francis McClay along for two rounds, with an exhibition of light tapping, came out in the last round and floored McClay with a neat right cross to the jaw and slammed him around until the end of the fight, winning the judges' decision.

In a bruising brawl Charles Haggerty, husky Kensington red head, defeated Russell Whinnery, of Nativty, in three rounds. These two 160-lb. sluggers had one another on the floor several times and inflicted plenty of punishment to each other, before the bell ended the scrap. The pair was so tired from their furious efforts that they could barely lift their hands to defend themselves at the end.

In the seventh bout of the evening, Arthur Whalen, Kensington, gave an exhibition of scientific boxing that was pleasing to watch. His opponent, Frank Santoro, of the Old Boys Club, was unable to lay a glove on the elusive Whalen until the closing minutes of the third round, when he lost his head with the futility of the affair and struck Whalen a low blow, losing on a foul.

"Dead Pan" Charlie O'Connor, 126 lbs., of the Old Boys Club, was too much for Jimmy Nocito, of Croydon, in the semi-windup. O'Connor floored the local lad in the second and again in the closing round with heavy rights, winning the judges' decision. In the windup John Di Antonio, Old Boys heavyweight, knocked out Frank Alice, of Mason, with the first punch swung a hard smash to the point of the jaw.

The Daggar A. C. announced that Mickey Giordano, formerly of St. Ann's, will be the matchmaker of the Croydon Club, and will be assisted by Johnny Straffe, former St. Ann's

DOUGHERTY SUPERVISES FIVE MAJOR SPORTS

By Jack Orr

With the complete supervision of five major sports at Bristol High school, as well as having charge of the hygiene classes and gymnastical teaching for over 250 students, Coach William E. Dougherty has a position which calls for time and ability.

With all his work at the institution, "Doc" still has the power and teaching ability to turn out winners in at least three of his five athletic clubs. Football, basketball, baseball, track and gymnastic teams all fall under the supervision of the coach and his gridiron, oval and gymnastic stars are usually winners.

His court fives and baseball nines are the weakest of his clubs, yet the basketball team has the average of 44 wins and 22 losses for the four years he has been at the helm. The diamond aggregations under Dougherty won the championship in 1933 and 1934, although in the latter season an ineligible player lost the championship via forfeit. Last year the school did not have a baseball team on the field, owing to financial conditions.

Dougherty's football men have copped the Lower Bucks County championship for the last four years and in that period have amassed the fine totals of 24 wins, eight losses, and six ties for the average of .750.

Bristol High's track men have predominated over all competition for years and since the arrival of "Doc" in 1932 have copped the gonfalon in Class A of the Bucks County Inter-scholastic Meet each year.

Bristol was not represented in the gymnastical field until Dougherty took over the reins four years ago. Then a feeble attempt at organizing a team was made. Since that first dismal year of organization the gym team has improved rapidly each year and reached a climax this season when they copped the District 1 title in the P. I. A. A. competition. Also on the club under the tutelage of the diminutive coach are one state champion and a national champion.

Dougherty's hours at the school are long and at the average last from eight o'clock in the morning until seven or eight o'clock in the evening. In that time, in the various seasons, he does more work probably than any other athletic director in the county. For while the rest of the schools have different mentors for each sport, as well as assistant coaches in the various ones, Dougherty has charge of the five athletic teams without help from anyone.

In football season, "Doc" arrives at 7.45, and takes his quarterbacks into a special meeting. There the signal barker are taught the various fundamentals of master-minding their opponents. He then takes classes in hygiene and gym until the dismissal hour at 3.30. Then the football squad reports. Three hours of practice constitutes the ritual of the gridiron clubs. After the practice another meeting is held, this time with the whole team in attendance. The club is usually dismissed at seven o'clock, just in time for a cold supper. This goes on for three months.

Another Fall feature in the curriculum of Bristol High is the intramural soccer tournament. Over one hundred and fifty lads take part in this tournament and each learn the fundamentals of a sport which is rapidly growing in popularity. This is another added feature originated since the arrival of "Bill" Dougherty.

Basketball practice starts after the gridiron schedule is completed. At the same time the initial gym practice is called. The court fives has its practice in the afternoon from 3.30 until 5.30, then the gym team takes the floor and has its drilling until seven.

Two nights a week the basketball teams have their games and at the intermissions the gym team shows its stuff. Both the court teams and the gymnastical aggregation must be at their peak when this time arrives.

As soon as the basketball season is completed, the gym team must be in shape for their exhibitions. The club gave five this year as well as competing in various competitions. The basketball tournament for classes is another feature added since the inaugural of Dougherty. Each class has representatives in this tournament and the games are held on the same days the Bunnies play—Tuesdays and Fridays.

"Doc," regardless of the work he is burdened with, keeps piling more on each year and this season inaugurated a Bucks County basketball tournament for the schools of Bucks County. This tournament adds much more work to his able staff of managers. That is beside the point, however, according to Bill and he plans to make it an annual affair.

In the spring the Bunnies teams once again are called out. This time the baseball club and the track men are called simultaneously. "Doc" has quite a time here trying to teach his inexperienced runners a thing or two while he is tutoring the baseball nine. He is continually tossing advice to young hopefuls on the track as well as using his whip-like tongue on the baseballers.

Prior to this year spring football also played a part in the spring schedule but a ruling of the P. I. A. A. barring this preparation for the gridironers, made this impossible.

So, as we all can see, William Dougherty's schedule is certainly compact through all seasons of the year.

And since the good-natured mentor is a favorite among all of the boys it is hoped that he continues as athletic director at the local institution for many years to come.

WASHINGTON CROSSING DROPS FROM LEAGUE

MORRISVILLE, Apr. 9.—Seven teams were represented at a meeting of the Delaware River Baseball League, held at the home of President Neal Nolan here last night, but one of those dropped out before the session was concluded.

Washington Crossing, represented by Willard Leedom, announced its intention of quitting the circuit this season. No reason was given for its leaving.

The defending champion, Humesville, was not represented, nor was Southampton, another contestant last season, but it was thought both would be present at the next meeting, to be held at Nolan's home on Thursday, April 16, at 8.30 p. m. At that time officers for the season will be elected, contracts will be given out and initial forfeit deposits of $10 posted. The remainder of the $25 forfeit fee must be paid before the season opens, which will be either May 2 or 3.

Other clubs and their representatives included Morrisville, J. A. Hoopch; Edgely, Fred Hibbs, last year's manager who will be replaced at the helm this season; Dolington, Jack McGary; Lambertville, Elmer Stout, who has taken over the reins held last year by Harry Sheppard, and the two applicants for berths in the circuit, Newtown, Harry Burns, and Bordentown, Elmer Simmons and J. R. McNells.

5,000 TROUT PLANTED IN MORRISVILLE LAKE

Five thousand rainbow trout have been planted in the Morrisville Lake by the Penns Manor Club and the members of that organization are eagerly anticipating angling for the elusive trout after they have matured. Some of the trout came from Plymouth Rock, Mass., while others were shipped here from the Trexler fishery, Allentown.

The Penns Manor members are developing a wonderful property for their club members and many hours of wholesome outdoor sport is in store for those affiliated with the organization.

MANY THANKS

When you've helped a friend in time of trouble doesn't it make you feel like you've really done something—and when he thanks you don't you feel amply repaid for your time and effort?

A company is only a collection of individuals striving to help others and so we are trying to help you ALL the time. And when we are thanked as in the letter below, it adds to our desire to please.

"Dear Sirs: I am writing to express my appreciation for the promptness in which you settled the death claim of my daughter, Blanche Boykins, who was insured in the Industrial on April 17, 1933 for $200 death benefit, and died March 18, 1936.

Today, twenty-four hours after I notified you of the death, I received a check in full settlement of the claim. I appreciate your courtesy and kindness and wish to thank you.

Yours truly,

Birtha Mayer,
2158 N. 19th Street,
Philadelphia, Pa."

Your duty to your family is to insure your life for their protection and our duty is to protect you . . . for them. This insurance idea is a sound investment . . . perhaps you had better give it some thought.
